MILAM COUNTY OVER IN RED CROSS DRIVE

Milam county has done it again—is over the top in the Red Cross drive for post war activities in the world.

The quota was small but the record time in which it was oversubscribed is another indication of how the people of the county have regarded their obligations to this great cause.

During the war the Red Cross drives were for much larger sums of money. The people never failed to met those demands.

F. G. Blake, finance director for the current drive, reported Monday that the quota had been exceeded. The amount collected was not stated but enough money has been deposited in the banks to insure success. Additional collections will be reported.

Easter Seal Sales Under Way In County

The Easter Seal Sale, held annually during the month before Easter, opened simultaneously across the nation on March 21. It is sponsored by the National Society for Crippled Children and Adults and its 40 affiliated state Societies, of which the Texas Society for Crippled Children is a member.

In accepting the chairmanship, Mrs. Grady Stidham said: "The purchase of Easter Seals means that physically handicapped persons right here in our own community will receive aid to meet their valid needs not otherwise provided for. Our organization does not duplicate the work of other agencies, public or private, but is concerned with the unmet needs of crippled and handicapped adults."

Harry Haraway, Nine Years In Cemaron, To Hold Anniversary Sale

Nine years of serving Cameron as friend and merchant will be observed by Harry Haraway, owner of the Western Auto Associate Store, next week. His courteous, cheerful smile has made Harry a favorite with all who know him. It was in the spring of 1937 that he came to Cameron to make his home and enter into business here. In 1941 he was married to Miss Imogene McLerran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank McLerran.

Special merchandise purchased for the Anniversary celebration, as well as reduced prices on regular goods will be featured at the Western Auto Associate Store for one week starting Friday 5th and continuing thru Saturday 13th.

The merchandise carried by Mr. Haraway is purchased almost exclusively from Western Auto Supply Company, a nationally known merchandising organization handling high quality goods. That company has for many years backed up its merchandise with a guarantee of "Satisfaction or your money back." Now more than 1400 home-owned Western Auto Associate Stores use this policy as a yard stick for their dealings.

Mr. Haraway, through his association with Western Auto is in a position to pass on to his patrons the saving made possible by their tremendous buying powers. Before any item is selected as representative of the high standard of Western Auto merchandise, it must pass the close scrutiny of experienced buyers for quality and durability.

GUNN FOR RE-ELECTION AS COUNTY ATTORNEY

Ed. Gunn county atorney for Milam county, will be a candidate for reeelction to succeed himself, he announced for publication early Thursday.

Mr. Gunn was appointed to the office in 1942 and has had only one elective term. In making his announcement he thanked the people for their co-operation. He will run again upon the record he has made in the office.

His friends are pointing out the fact that while crime has become open and notorious in many parts of Texas the wave of wrong doing has not touched this county. Mr. Gunn's formal announcement will appear in the next issue of this paper.

GIRL SCOUT WORK IS PLANNED BY COUNCIL

Herald May Be Oldest Business Institution In Cameron; Centennial Year Brings Opportunity To Look at History, Recall Happenings of Past

A not too thorough investigation reveals that The Cameron Herald may be the oldest business institution in Cameron.

For years it had been assumed that the Milam County Abstract Company was the oldest in Cameron with the Herald following and then the B. I. Arnold Insurance Agency, now operated by Mrs Mamie Hefley. The First National Bank being fourth.

The age of the Abstract firm was calculated from the 1850's but it develops there are no records on which to base the date of its establishment, although the present name was incorporated in 1901.

The Milam County Abstract Company was modernized by the late T. S. Henderson and was based upon some records made by the pioneer lawyer, C. R. Smith, who was the father of the late Mrs. E. A. Wallace and grandfather of Capt Bill Wallace, now practicing law in Cameron. According to the best information available the abstract firm's files were first made from an old record book which was saved from the fire that destroyed the court house, because it happened to be in the office of Mr. Smith. He had taken the record book from the court house to make his transcriptions.

The court house was destroyed by fire in 1874. The earliest records of the Abstract firm were compiled prior to that time but thought to have been made up in the early 1870's.

The Cameron Herald was established in 1860 but not under the name Herald. According to the published

Hogg-Clark Campaign Recalled by Old Ribbon Worn Then, Exhibited

An old ribbon worn by supporters of the late George Clark who made himself immortal in Texas political annals in the campaign for governor in 1892 against James Steven Hogg, was exhibited Wednesday by Matt B. Bailey, pioneer Cameron printer.

The ribbon, now considerably faded, is a rich memento of one of the most turbulent campaigns in the history of the state.

Mr. Bailey, then operating a plant of his own, printed ten thousand ribbons for both the Clark and Hogg supporters who were on hand in 1892 for the all day picnic and political rally in Cameron in which the two candidates opened their campaign for governor.

Mr. Bailey said many Hogg supporters wore the ribbons with the following inscription: "More Hogg and Hominy." The Clark ribbon says: "Turn Texas Loose."

During Centennial Year in Cameron many people are recalling the past. A check up brought on by Mr. Bailey's exhibit forms the basis for some interesting facts about the joint debate in Cameron between Hogg and Clark.

Judge Jeff T. Kemp, 65 years a resident of Cameron and who was born in L ouisiana and came here when 12 years old, gave some interesting sidelights on the rally. The candidates spoke in central park from the very band stand which now is being repaired under the direction of Judge Kemp, R. L. Batte, Sr., and Mose G. Cox.

Judge Kemp was chairman of the Hogg Club and in his safe at his office has the original list of those who signed up. They include many of the leading men of that day 53 years ago. The state standard for ribbons worn by Hogg supporters had these words: "Hogg and The Commission."

Will Rogers' Humorous Story

By WILL ROGERS

THESE modern college girls ain't afraid of anybody. Especially, I understand, they ain't afraid of their teachers. Well there was a girl that wanted to get out of going to classes for a couple of weeks, and she went to the president of the little college she was going to, and says, "Say, I gotta get away for two weeks. I have a letter from my mother, and she says I have to go home and take care of her while she gets over the grip."

"Well," says the prexy, "I guess I got you there. I got later news. I got a letter right here in my desk from your mother, telling me to keep you in school at any cost." The girl was a little bit puzzled. "You're a better liar than I am, I reckon, and you win," she says. "I ain't got any mother, and haven't had any since I was two

JUDGE JEFF T. KEMP RUNS FOR RE-ELECTION

Jeff T. Kemp, County Judge, is a candidate for re-election, subject to the Democratic Primary Election to be held on Saturday, July 27, 1946.

When Judge Kemp announced for re-election in 1942, The Herald commenting upon his distinguished public record said: "As a candidate for re-election, Judge Kemp, in relationship to the service he has rendered as County Judge, occupies a position few men have been able to attain. This distinction results from devotion to public duty which combines with ability to make one of the most impressive records in the history of the county."

The complete formal announcement of his candidacy for re-election will appear in the next issue of The Herald. Although Judge Kemp announced for re-election two weeks ago, this newspaper, due to circumstances beyond our control, has not been able to publish the announcement as desired.

CAMERON IS NAMED FOR SOLDIER OF REPUBLIC

Centennial year is here and many people are thinking in terms of history.

One of the great tregedies of time is that history is never preserved in written form. A quiz today would reveal a surprising lack of information about Cameron's history.

Cameron is the county seat of Milam county and was surveyed in May 1846. Celebration of the Centennial will be held on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, May 23, 24 and 25.

Milam county, one of the original and historical land domains of Texas, following independence and existing as a colonization grant while under Mexican rule, was larger that the state of Vermont in its original survey. Cameron in its relationship to Texas has more than the common of share in the heritage of these 100 years of history because geographically it is in the heart of that territory into which have been crowded many of the transcending events of the state's history.

Cameron was named for Captain Ewen Cameron, a native of the Highlands in Scotland. Me was an adventurer and a soldier. In 1840 he was a cowboy riding the ranges in Victoria county. In 1843 he was one among the band of 300 Texans who marched into Mexico in the famous though ill-fated Mier expedition.

WOODSIE DEVERS RUNS FOR RE-ELECTION HERE

R. A. (Woodsie) Devers, county treasurer, is a candidate for reelection to succeed himself for another term, subject to the July Democratic Primary election.

Mr. Devers ,in asking for re-election for another term, said that he will not be a candidate again after he has served the next full term. Mr. Devers will retire from office, he said, because he will be 65 within a few weeks after his next full term is served and that will be in January 1949.

In seeking another term, Mr. Devers was pleased to know that so many of his friends over the country are pledging their support and are assuring him that they will do all they can to give him another two years in the office.

During recent years, Mr. Devers has been paying for a modest home in Cameron and said on the eve of his announcement for re-election to one more term, that he lacks only a small amount of having his home debt liquidated and if he can get another term in the office, he will have his home paid for.

Due to his physical condition, Mr. Devers may not be able to make an active campaign but hopes to see all the voters he can. If this is not possible, he takes this means of assuring each one that he wants their vote and support and will be grateful for any favors his friends may extend in his campaign.

Mr. Devers has served for several

Grow a Beard is the Latest Movement Here For Centennial Color and Style; Two Business Men Say They Will Circulate Petition; Interest High

"Having a beard, as a man," said Shakespeare, would seem to dignify the byssus, and now that most people are thinking of 100 years of history in Cameron, two of Cameron's business men have conceived a colorful idea.

Will Cameron have a Beard Club? Well, in the next few days a petition will be circulated by Charlie Holstein and J. C. Breshear and you can sign up to grow a beard for the Centennial.

The idea is unique and while a bit startling is going to make a lot of fun and those doubtful citizens who have never read history can get a good idea what their ancestors looked like with long hair on their face.

Mr. Holstein and Mr. Brashear feel that they will be doing a colorful bit of work for the Centennial and by so doing men can lapse into the past in their personal appearance and when the thousands come back home for the celebration the city will not only look old but the citizens who sign up will look like the pioneers.

Beard stroking in the misty past was what made grandpa look like a sage. It is one of the benign influences upon adult life, this thing of whiskers and long flowing beard. So we are apt to see coffee stain on whiskers again. Barbers were tearing their hair saying it is so much eye wash, this new fad for the Centennial, but there is a surprising number who may say they are game and will do it.

You have a choice, of course. You can grow a long flowing broadcast to cover up your shirt in front; you can just have a mustache, a chin beard, side burns, a close crop or just let the whole darn thing grow wild and look like Whiskers Savage. So come on boys and get in the pioneer movement. After all it may be the best oportunity you ever had to see what color your mustache would be if you had lived in the '40's and the '60's.

COMMITTEE IS NAMED TO TACKLE GI SCHOOL

An effort to revive collapsed efforts to get a GI school in Cameron will be made by a committee composed in large part by veterans of the past war.

Emory B. Camp has been named Chairman of the committee and a meeting of all veterans of the war who are interested has been called for Monday night, April 8, in the district court room.

The committee members are Emory B Camp, W. A. L. Robinson, W. T. Hanes, A. W. McCullin and C. T. Stubbs of Gause. The committee will function for the territory covered by the proposed Cameron school.

Chas. M. Hicks, county superintendent, named the committee. The school was first projected by the County Board of Education but was never organized.

It was doubtful if these schools can operate, due to lack of interest on the part of veterans and government regulations relative to employment.

WORD OF APPRECIATION

How Morgan Kin Married Pretty Japanese Dancer

Romance of Relative of One Of Richest Americans Is Told in Kyoto.

KYOTO, JAPAN.—An old man hunched over a charcoal burner to keep off the cold in his barber shop and told his story of the romance of a beautiful Jap dancer and a relative of one of America's wealthiest men.

The interviewer was a reporter for Stars and Stripes, army newspaper. The narrator was Barber Kato, now 70, who said the dancer was his sister and the American was George Morgan, whom he identified as a nephew of the elder J. P. Morgan.

Records show George Denis Morgan, cousin of the late J. P. Morgan, was married in 1904 to Yuki Kato, daughter of a Jap swordmaker of Kyoto.

Her Family Objected.

This is Kato's story as told to Stars and Stripes:

Nearly half a century ago Morgan, a jolly, mustachioed American, came to a tea house in Kyoto where Yuki Kato was a dancer. Morgan was so charmed by her beauty he asked her to marry him.

Weddings between the East and West were not easily arranged in those days. The Kato family objected.

Morgan traveled a lot, and in time went back to America. He carried with him a doll in the likeness of Yuki Kato, and in a year he came back to Japan. This time he succeeded in arranging a wedding.

Wed in Yokohama.

The wedding in the Oriental Palace Hotel in Yokohama was of such splendor that Kato can remember it vividly even now.

The couple went to live in Morgan's mansion near the Miyako hotel, where the U. S. 6th army staff resides today.

Later they went to America and still later traveled around the world before settling in France, where Morgan died. The couple was childless.

Mrs. Morgan came back to Japan. Now she lives secluded in a small house with one servant and a brown and white cat.

Makes Aleut Easy: Just Say 'Sitzugisxaqing'!

WASHINGTON. — All Americans with a dollar and a repressed desire to talk to Aleutian islanders may cease fretting—the interior department has published an Aleut textbook.

The tome, titled "The Aleut Language," is the result of the combined efforts of three scholars covering nearly 125 years, starting with a Russian priest in the early 1800s. It includes grammar and vocabularies in addition, it contains two Aleut songs.

Those who undertake to learn Aleut from the book are in for a bad time. Rules for pronunciation include the following:

"M" is "snorted" through the nose. "G" is pronounced "gutterally midway between G and X."

The worst is yet to come.

"Sitxugisxaqing" means "I am at fault."

Macungsinaxtagalikuqing" means "I do with all energy, not sparing myself."

"Tunuqalinaq sisaq isluxtaxtagalikugan" means: "He began to speak, although it was when he was 100 years old."

Is it any wonder?

German Wine Deal Costs American Officer $10,000

FRANKFURT AM MAIN.—Capt. William Atteberry of Shively, Ky., an American military government officer, has been fined $10,000 by a military court for black-market dealings in wine which netted him a profit of $966.37, 7th army headquarters disclosed.

The sentence was pronounced by a general court martial at Heidelberg and approved by Lt. Gen. Goeffrey Keyes, 7th army commander.

Atteberry said the profits were used to pay French authorities "as graft" for permission to make the initial purchase. His defense was supported only by his own statements.

Atteberry bought 23,095 liters of wine from the buergermeister of Alsheim, in the French occupation zone, and resold it to the buergermeister of Langenau, in the American zone, for use by American officers' and enlisted men's clubs.

A lovely tea was given the conference guests, 800 in attendance.

A meeting will be held in Brenham April 5 for the Bryan district. A number of Cameron people will attend.

Texas Vote Strength Will Be 1,838,596 In '46; Largest On Record

AUSTIN.—Texas will have an estimated voting strength of 1,838,596 in the 1946 primaries and general election ,figures announced by the comptroller today indicated.

This would be more than 250,000 in excess of 1944's voting strength.

Comptroller George Sheppard said today reports from county tax assessor-collectors showed a total of 1,334,614 poll taxes paid and 103,982 exemptions claimed.

It has been conservatively estimated that the vote of service men and women—who are exempt from paymnt of the poll tax as a prerequisite to voting this year—will be approximately 400,000.

This would bring the total to 1,838,596 and possibly more, since exemptions are reported only from cities of 10,000 or more population.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Unreality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 7.

The Golden Text is: "There is that maketh himself rich, yet hath nothing: there is that maketh himself poor, yet hath great riches" (Proverbs 13:7).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: 'Unless thy law had been my delights, I should then have perished in mine affliction" (Psalms 119:92).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes" (page 184).

Vitamin Loss

Experiments indicate that potatoes lose vitamin C more rapidly when stored at low temperatures than when held at temperatures between 50 and 70 degrees. The practical application of the discovery seems to be to keep potatoes to be used before January 1 in a warmer storage than those to be eaten later.

Woman Finally Gives Up Sewing at 107

VASSALBORO, MAINE.—Failing eyesight has forced 107-year-old Mrs. Mae Z. Glidden to abandon sewing, but she recalls making 7,000 pairs of men's trousers during the days before clothing was factory-made.

Mrs. Glidden worked as a spinner and weaver while a girl and a young woman.

Fugitive Tells Prison Horrors

Prisoner Escaped From Rock Pile Gang Is Bitter.

KANSAS CITY, MO.—An escaped prisoner from a Virginia rock pile gang told from a cell in the Jackson county, Kansas City, jail a bitter story of spread-eagle treatment, of shackles and vowed to fight extradition because, "I know I'll never come out alive after making this public."

A local attorney, Lyman Fields, learning of the story told by the prisoner, Lawrence William Starling, 23, said he would represent him without charge in his fight to prevent extradition to Virginia prison camp No. 24 at South Hill, Va.

It was a story of chain gangs, of 12-hour days on the rock piles, with 15 minutes out for the daily three-sandwich lunch, of medieval punishments. Starling exhibited scars and calluses on his ankles to support his contention of the shackles.

"I'd rather spend the rest of my life in prison here than go back to Virginia for 12 months," he said. "It'd be going back to hell. It'd be going back to die after I tell you this."

He said he escaped from the camp Christmas Eve, with six other convicts after they had sawed through the shackle on one ankle. He was arrested by sheriff's deputies in a southside shopping district on information supplied by a woman.

He said he was sent to the camp after he escaped from prison and surrendered four months later through his father to complete a four-year term for embezzlement. He charged the authorities violated their agreement in sending him to the camp and in adding a year to his sentence.

"Besides that, I got 27 lashes," he added.

One June 26, 1945, he escaped again but said he was caught four days later by guards using bloodhounds. Another, two years were added to his term and he said he drew 31 lashes and was chained by his hands, spread-eagle fashion while on his toes, for 31 days, with only four hours a day to sleep.

Bomb Smashed Hitler's Nerves, Says Adjutant

HERFORD, GERMANY. — Adolf Hitler suffered bomb shock in an attempt on his life that later led to a deterioration of his mind and nerves, a statement by his air force adjutant, Col. Nicolaus von Below, said. The bomb explosion occurred on July 20, 1944.

Von Below, 38, arrested after disguising himself as a university student, also said that Hitler and Eva Braun were married in the Berlin reichschancellery last April 28, not April 29 as indicated by other evidence.

Von Below told British questioners that the 1944 bomb explosion knocked him unconscious, and that afterward he saw Hitler come out a doorway of the shattered conference room with his uniform badly torn, but unhurt except for a leg bruise. Later, however, Hitler showed signs of the effect of the shock, Von Below said, adding that this led to deterioration of the fuehrer's mind and nerves.

Succeeds in Working Himself Into Jailhouse

VINCENNES, IND.—It was a tough job but Charles Graham, 60, a farm worker, finally managed to work himself into the jailhouse here.

He was polite about it at first, merely asking police:

"Pease put me in jail. I'm sick and there isn't anyone to care for me."

When Police Capt. Harry Parmenter turned him down because there were no charges against him, he left and returned a half-hour later with a 16-ounce bottle of perfume. He explained:

"I just stole it. Now I can go to jail."

Among Graham's possessions which were deposited with the turnkey was a bank slip showing he had deposits of $1,005.

Industry in Russia Is Showing Some Progress

MOSCOW. — The government newspaper Izvestia has cited figures to show an increase in Soviet industry for 1944 as compared with 1943.

The newspaper said electrical output increased 21 per cent, coal production 21 per cent, pig iron 31 per cent, steel 29 per cent and rolled iron 28 per cent.

No figures were listed for these categories for last year. A statement said the automobile output for 1946 would be double that of 1945.

BUILDING AND LOAN ASSOCIATION MERGED

The Cameron Building & Loan Association was organized by Henry M. Hefley and his friend, J. L. Clinton, 21 years ago.

This organization has served the people of Cameron since 1925 and in every section of the city homes may be found that were financed by the Cameron Building & Loan Association.

To bring added strength to the organization the share holders voted at a meeting on Friday, March 22, to merge the Association with the Cleburne Building & Loan which now has assets totalling $375,000.

G. O. Knippa, manager of the Cleburne Savings & Loan Association was present at the meeting and stated that the investments and savings of the people of Cameron who were members of the Cameron Building & Loan Association will hereafter be insured up to $5,000. per holder by the Federal Savings & Loan Insurance Corporation of Washington.

The Cleburne Savings & Loan Association will issue certificates, which are Federally insured to the members of the Cameron Building & Loan Association for amounts equal to their value in the local association. Payments on loans may be made at the First National Bank as heretofore.

Mr Knippa further stated that he hopes to work out a plan to serve the Cameron people in the making of home loans for refinancing, repairs, building or otherwise and also that, if possible, arrangements will be made to accept additional investments and savings from Cameron citizens. "We have a waiting list of investors at this time who are receiving 3 per cent dividends but we hope to soon be able to employ such funds and take additional new money,' he concluded.

WORD OF APPRECIATION

We are deeply and sincerely grateful for your kindness to us during the recent illness and death of our beloved father, H. H. Mitchell. We will remember always those who came with words of sympathy that gave us strength and those whose floral offerings expressed the sorrow they felt over our misfortune. To all who in any way assisted us, we extend our heartfelt thanks.

"LIFE WITH BABY"

Over ten million babies! That's the startling total of births between Pearl Harbor and V-J day, says March of Time's "Life With Baby." This revealing film shows the important findings being made in the field of Child Development by Dr. Arnold Gesell and his staff at Yale University's Clinic of Child Development, and photographed through their unique one-way-vision dome (upper left). . . . All too often a child under two is punished for pulling things apart. But soon he will enjoy putting things in their proper places. . . . A child of two who persists in putting a round peg in a square hole is not necessarily lacking in intelligence, explains the film. . . . A normal three-year old, for example, will build structures which call for careful coordination of eyes and hands. . . . By a grasp of facts revealed in the film, the intelligent parent can avoid many old worries and misconceptions.

I'M SOLD ON FLAME COOKERY WITH GAS—IT'S FASTEST, CHEAPEST AND EASIEST TO REGULATE!

Practically unanimous is this opinion. And it's little wonder that the modern homemaker hugs to her belief in gas cooking—flame cooking. She values it for the time and money it saves her. She praises it for its ease of control. She understands that a flame is necessary for successful broiling.

The FLAME cooks it better

Instant heat controlled to the exact degree required for any cooking job is possible only with the clean blue flame of Natural Gas. This is the basic reason why practically all cooking in this Natural Gas area is done with Gas. Is it any wonder that modernization plans specify: "A New Freedom Gas Kitchen?"

HOGG-CLARK

Many ribbons on the opening day had the words "Hogg and Commission." Supporters of the immortal Hogg from Rockdale came over with the largest banner of the day and insisted on the word "The" being in the slogan line.

They allotted seats equally for the Hogg and Clark men. The late T. S. Henderson, a great orator, introduced Hogg while W. M. James, another Cameron lawyer, who also served as District Attorney, introduced Clark.

When the candidates came to Cameron they took up residences less than a block apart. Hogg was a guest in the J. M. Ralston home which was then located on the site now occupied by the federal building. Clark took quarters at the Garrett Hotel which was on the property now owner by W. E. Gaither and under lease to the Jenkins Service Station. The J. M. Ralston home was moved to its present site on 13th street.

After the big rally in the park the convention was held and delegates were named to the state convention. Judge Kemp tells how that Clark responded when Hogg asked him to come over to the Ralston residence to arrange details of the speaking in the park. "They were real gentlemen," said Judge Kemp, "but in the park that afternoon the atmosphere was quite heated, as they tore into each other. The issue was the Railroad Commission proposed by Hogg as against "Turn Texas Loose" proposed by Clark. It was Commission and anti-Commission.

In the convention that night the Hogg people won. They had the votes and spurned appeals of Clark supporters to divide the delegates. In the primary that summer Hogg was nominated and elected in November. He became one of the great men of Texas. The campaign was similar to the famous debates between Abraham Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas for the Presidency. Douglas and Lincoln became friends, the latter holding the President's tall hat while he delivered his inaugural. Clark and Hogg also became close friends after that bitter campaign.

New Ulm Reader Is Appreciative of Herald; Writes of Conditions

New Ulm, Texas
Rt. 1, Box 117A
March 27, 1946

Dear Mr. White:

I've decided to drop you a few lines. We enjoy reading the Cameron Herald. Our copy comes every Monday. It's a little late but it's news to us. We like to hear from our old tramping place.

We read about the plane crash the day after it happened in the Houston Post. We were sorry to hear the bad news and we know how the parents of those boys feel. Something like that happens every day.

We are having too much rain here. Half the farmers don't have a chance to plant corn and lots of the land still has to be broke. The farmers that planted their corn before the big rains will have to plant all over. We had around 8 inches of rain a week ago. Mill Creek had about 11 feet of water on the bottoms, and its raining right now.

Corn for feed sells for $4.00 a hundred and Laying Mash from $3.75 to $4.20 per hunudred, and eggs are 28 cents a dozen.

Everything for our store is harder to get now than it was during the war. We haven't been able to get syrup as yet. Country meat is scarce. You can't hardly get meat of any kind here. It was plentiful last year, they say. Hope it's better soon.

Well, that's the latest news here so I will close.

I'm yours truly,

A. L. Krenek.

More Generous Aid To Crippled Children In Easter Seal Sale

An even greater number of Texas' crippled children are going to be given the chance to grow into healthy, normal adults as the result of the generous response to the thirteenth annual Easter Seal Sale now in progress. The response to the 650,000 Easter Seals mailed to Texans is the largest and most generous in the history of the sale, according to Martin M. Ricker, executive secretary of the Texas Society for Crippled Children, sponsors of the sale.

Proceeds from the Easter Seal Sale are used in locating handicapped children, providing medical care, crutches and wheelchairs and rehabilitation to those who otherwise could not receive this necessary care. The Society also conducts a campaign for the prevention of crippling diseases. Every Texan who has not already sent a contribution for the seals is urged to do so at once and to use the seals on all correspondence as a reminder to others of the necessary work being done for the less fortunate children in all communities .

Stocks Show Penicillin Effective Mastitis Drug

A new and powerful weapon against the dairy farmers' worst enemy, mastitis, has apparently been found in the much-publicized drug, penicillin. Some veterinarians say that as many as 50 per cent of the dairy herds are prevented from producing their full potential milk output because of mastitis. Hence any progress against the disease is of interest to the dairyman.

Penicillin, research workers report, is effective against both the streptococcic and the staphylococcic types of mastitis. This fact embodies an important advance in mastitis control, as previous agents were effective against only the streptococcic type of infection. Another advantage of penicillin lies in its relatively small irritant action in the udder compared to some of the older drugs, which often produce marked reactions to their use.

Penicillin, however, in the hands of a capable veterinarian is not to be looked upon as the final solution to the mastitis problem. There are no substitutes for good management and periodic examinations of the udder. The proper use of milking machines and strip cups, good stabling and bedding and elimination of sources of injury and chilling, combined with a program of early recognition and treatment of cases of mastitis, represent the most efficient and economical control program.

Sauerkraut Dates 'Way Back to 200 B. C.

Sauerkraut has a tradition of feeding working men, because records indicate that in 200 B. C. sauerkraut was a part of the rations served to the workmen who were building the Great Wall of China.

Sauerkraut is made by adding salt to shredded cabbage. The salt draws the sugar from the cabbage and certain bacteria cause the sugar to ferment. One of the products of this fermentation is lactic acid, with gives kraut much of its characteristic flavor. When kraut is eaten the lactic acid helps to keep the intestinal tract in a healthy condition.

Sauerkraut is not valuable as a source of any specific vitamin; however, among the minerals it does have considerable amounts of iron and some calcium. Kraut is especially well liked served with spare ribs or sausage. And in some states it is an accompaniment to roasted fowl.

More About DDT

One of the early fears—that DDT would destroy too many bees which are useful as honey collectors and particularly valuable as pollenizers of crops such as legumes and fruit—has been virtually eliminated by the discovery that DDT is actually less deadly to bees than the arsenical sprays now commonly used. Beekeepers now are beginning to regard DDT as a promising relief for bee losses by arsenic poisoning. Usual objections to the new pest control have been predicated upon the contention that it would "upset the balance of nature," a theory that beneficial insects, birds and other predaters can sufficiently control insect pests. So, intensive tests of DDT are being made to determine its effect upon fish, birds, beneficial insects and other wild life. In regard to the widespread use of the chemical, it now appears for the first time as a practical control for some forest insects.

LIONS HEAR PROGRAM FOR POST WAR WORLD

How Lionism is fitting into the post war world and its progress during the conflict, was stressed by H. C. Petry, a Director of Lions International, at the Ladies Night meeting held Tuesday night at the high school gymnasium.

Mr. Petry lives in Carrizo Springs, Texas. He was introduced by B. F. Reichert, former District Governor.

Better understanding among peoples of all nations and the consequent betterment of relations, may be attributed to the work of Lions International and to other club services, he pointed out. The influence of the service club such as Lions has been felt in the formation of a beter world order, he said, and the future of the organization is bright.

The Cameron Lions Club is the largest club in the United States for a community of this population. The club has more than a hundred members.

The program featured reports by a number of local Lions. Mrs. Franklin Dusek gave a Chalk Talk, accompanied by Mrs. Richard Hester and the latter gave a humorous number.

The banquet was served by Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Canady, assisted by students of the Ada Henderson school.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Kennon and children of Houston visited relatives in and around Cameron this week.

INSURANCE NEEDS FOR CENTENNIAL SOUGHT

Insurance needs for the Centennial were discussed at a meeting of the Central Committee here Friday night.

A committee was named to confer with the city officials to determine what shall be done about liability and also the question of rain insurance.

The committee added three names to the publicity committee as follows, Ralph Michalka, John Hays and Narvie Caperton.

O. B. Horstmann, chairman of the finance committee, said Saturday that response since last week has been good but not good enough to put the fund over the required amount. Cameron people are urged to respond to this appeal to insure the financial success of the centennial.

All ticket sales made in advance and during the celebration will be money to accumulate in a special fund to insure the annual celebration planned for Cameron.

Shoulder Cuffs

Do not throw away cuffs from men's discarded shirts. They are very useful in making shoulder pads for washable blouses and dresses. They retain stiffness better than other material and do not wad as those stuffed with cotton. One cuff will make two narrow pads which are suited to the short sleeves we are now using. Lay three small darts in the side of the cuff and sew to the top of the armhole seam so that the pad will extend into the sleeve or follow a pattern for shaping the pad and finishing.

Mrs. Mattie Ditto of Gause was in Cameron Monday on business.

Found: One Billfold; Lost: One Japanese

Salve, Spoon and Soap Aid Escape

Convict Tells How He Broke Out of Texas Jail.

HOUSTON.—Frank Mullins, sitting quietly in solitary confinement, told how he broke out of an "escape proof" death cell in Edinburg, Texas, jail last June with a spoon, a jar of nose salve and a starvation diet.

He was serving a life sentence at the time and, because he already had established himself as a successful jail breaker, was placed in the death cell.

Mullins ordered a jar of salve on the pretext of using it for a head cold. He saved his soap and went on a reducing diet.

He started digging in the cement with an ordinary eating spoon. He pecked away at night and threw the dirt and cement dust down a two-inch drain pipe. During the day he placed a magazine over his diggings.

In two weeks' time he made a hole 12 inches in diameter through 18 inches of cement to an 18-inch drain pipe.

That night he took off his clothes, greased himself with nose salve and, pushing his clothes ahead of him, started through the hole into the pipe.

He slipped into the pipe slowly and hopefully. "If I'd hit a curve or if the pipe had become smaller I'd been stuck. There was no backing up."

Mullins came out of a manhole in the back yard of the jail. There he scaled a high, double-barbed wire fence and was gone.

That was in June. In October he became involved in a running gun battle with police and was captured.

U. S. Decides to Ferret Out Hidden Shirts, Suits

WASHINGTON.—Government officials said they would take action "in a day or two" to bring hidden shirts and suits back on the retail market.

The Civilian Production administration announced it would notify the clothing industry of its power to withdraw priorities from manufacturers if violations of hoarding regulations are proved.

OPA field agents are investigating alleged inequalities in the maximum average-price program. If inequalities exist, an OPA spokesman said, adjustments will be made to bring hoarded goods back onto the market.

The OPA and CPA announcements followed reports that a number of companies are withholding shipments of men's shirts and suits from the retail market.

Under the maximum average-price program, manufacturers are permitted to distribute only certain percentages of high-priced items. It forces them to put on the market larger percentages of low-cost clothing.

Manufacturers assert they are unable to get sufficient low-priced fabrics to produce enough cheaper shirts to allow them to sell better shirts.

For that reason, they say, the higher-priced shirts pile up in their warehouses.

Find Germans Have Slow Going on the Road Back

FRANKFURT, GERMANY.—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney reported that Germany was making slow industrial recovery, but that restoration of a minimum sustaining economy was virtually impossible so long as the French hold out against treating the Reich as a single economic unit.

McNarney, commanding general for United States forces in the European theater, said resumption of industrial production has been authorized in about 30 per cent of the plants in the American zone but shortages of transportation, coal and power limited production to from 5 to 10 per cent of normal capacity.

In his first report as new military governor for the zone, McNarney said the Allied control authority was still deadlocked in the basic matter of establishing administrative agencies for Germany.

Men Who Re-Enlist Pledged Grades That Reward Their Service

Men who have been honorably discharged from active service on or after May 12, 1946 may now re-enlist in the Regular Army in a grade considered appropriate to their prior active service, training and experience, Lt. Ted Lewellyn, commanding officer of the local US Army Recruiting Station,, announced today.

Certain specialists, who received training and experience during the war have left the service early in the demobilization period pursuant to readjustment regulations, and have not been eligible for enlistment in their former grades under WD Circular 310, as amended.

It is expected that authority to enlist personnel possessing certain of the military occupational specialties will be revoked from time to timt by the Adjutant General as the requirements for such personnel are met, at which time the appropriate MOS will be deleted, the Lt. continued. The recruiting office is located at 15 East Central Ave., Temple, Texas.

U. S. Prevents Spread of Destructive Gypsy Moth

More than 300,000 Christmas trees and 25,000 bales of evergreen boughs and sprays for trimming were inspected and certified as free of gypsy moth eggs by agents of the bureau of entomology and plant quarantine, department of agriculture, during the past Christmas season in New England and New York state. More than a hundred carloads of Christmas trees were fumigated.

This big job is done by federal agents each year to supply Christmas markets with the fine spruces, hemlocks and other evergreens of the Northeast without danger of carrying eggs of the destructive gypsy moth to other parts of the country. The caterpillar of this moth feeds on leaves of many woodland and ornamental trees and often completely defoliates the trees. At the present this insect is confined to an area of the Northeast, and the entomologists are doing their utmost to keep it from spreading. Inspection and certification of all plant material going out of this area is necessary because one small cluster of eggs on an evergreen bough may contain as many as 400 eggs. Christmas trees and greens from the Northeast are shipped not only to eastern markets but often as far west as St. Louis.

From mid-November until Christmas, inspection centers are busy. Many of them are at convenient centers on important highways where farmers and other truckers can drive in and have their trees inspected.

Sweden Long Known For Quality Iron

Sweden has been noted as a producer of high-quality products for most of its 600 years as an iron-making nation. For a time, too, it was one of the leading producing countries in the world, although now it produces less than 1 per cent of world output.

The military successes of Gustavus Adolphus in the first half of the 17th century have been attributed in large part to the superior munitions produced from Swedish ore and Swedish iron. Not for two centuries afterwards was the principal reason for this superiority discovered—the chemical composition of certain of the iron ores found in Sweden.

Those ores were not only rich in iron, they were also very low in phosphorus or even almost free of that steel-contaminating element. Further, because of the lack of coal, charcoal has been widely used as a fuel for the Swedish iron industry—thus avoiding possible further contamination of the iron by sulphur.

Towel Care

A few suggestions for the care of towels include rotating supplies by putting freshly laundered towels on the bottom of the pile. Mend snags or worn places in towels before they go into the wash to avoid further tearing. If the selvage shows wear, check fraying by taking several rows of stitches along the edge to strengthen it. Wash towels before they become too soiled and require extra rubbing and bleaching. Drying outdoors in the sunshine is a safe and effective way to whiten towels. Bring them in as soon as they are dry. Whipping by the wind may loosen yarns at corners and cause fraying. Whipping in the wind is especially hard on towels if they freeze on the line. Ironing makes turkish towels less absorbent and is wasted energy. Avoid splitting towels along creases by folding sometimes in halves and sometimes in thirds. And last but not least, men in the family should not use towels to wipe off razor blades.

Indian Relics

Ancestors of the American Indians left stone implements quite distinct from those of their descendants, some of them bearing striking similarities to those of ice-age men in Europe. However, these similarities are superficial and misleading. Whatever tool-making culture the early migrants brought with them must have been that of eastern Asia, where the development of stone working was quite distinct from that of Europe. The migrations southward, it is believed, could hardly have preceded the opening of the ice-free corridor east of the Rockies about 20,000 years ago. To find another ice-free corridor it would be necessary to go back another 20,000 years, but this is generally considered too ancient to have played any part in human activities.

Forestall Cannibalism

To forestall egg eating by the hens themselves, at least five corrective measures may be taken: (1) Provide at least one clean nest for every five layers; (2) Shade or darken nests, with burlap if necessary, allowing adequate ventilation; (3) Supply high-quality mash in sufficient quantity and oyster shell or some calcium supplement; (4) Gather eggs several times daily; (5) Get broody birds off the nest at once and confine them until broodiness is broken. Contrary to popular belief, the cocky rooster serves no useful purpose to the flock except in the propagation of the chicken clan and his dubious worth as an alarm clock. So, if the flock is being kept for egg production, segregate or market the roosters to save feed

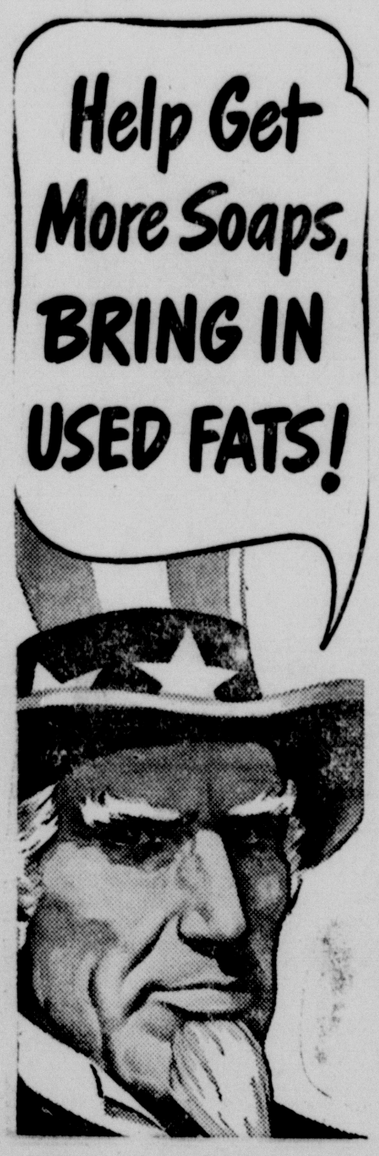
Mrs. R H. Mueck shopped in Cameron Tuesday.



THIS country is short of industrial fats, mighty short.

The supply is so low that the government must decide how much fat can be released to make soap; how much for other peacetime goods. The shortage would be even worse without the wonderful help American housewives are giving by turning in used fats.

Keep saving to tide us over this emergency. It will help YOU get more soaps and other products you want so much.

Three New Hudsons Are Delivered Here

According to the firm, deliveries are slow but conditions are much better than some weeks ago when it appeared the whole auto industry would be stalemated indefinitely by strikes.

Delivery of new cars was being accelerated and new goods in all lines of business were finding their way to the Cameron stores. With the coming of spring, the merchandising situation was fast improving.

Fabulous Siam

Home of 30-story temples, medieval pageants, and medicines made from deer horns and snake galls, fabulous Siam lends itself easily to popular fallacies — the so-called white elephant is not white, but albino; many straw hats represented as "made in Bangkok" were fashioned elsewhere; and the much-publicized Siamese twins were born of Chinese parents.

Mistake Jade

Many minerals are mistaken for, or sold as, jade; among them, sausserite, chlormelanite, pectolite and serpentine, of which there are large quantities in Rhode Island and Vermont. Finest of all jade collections is not in Asia, but in the United States, where it was presented to the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York City by H. R. Bishop.

Growing Older

America is becoming a nation of older people. In 1870 half the population was under age 20. Today only a third of all of us are minors Again, in 1870, only 3 per cent of the people were over age 65. Now 7 per cent are among the aged.

Judge Kemp Observing 77th Birthday Friday

Judge Jeff T. Kemp is observing his 77th birthday Friday in his office at the court house, receiving congratulations from his many friends.

His life experience has been rich with friendships and with serving the people. He was born near Baton Rouge, La., coming to Cameron at the age of 12 years, 65 years ago, and was one of theoldest of the citizens who were natives here.

His father, the late D. Kemp, was a pioneer merchant and with his brother, M. M. Kemp, established and operated for years the firm of D. Kemp & Brother. During the Centennial year in Cameron the venerable Judge is spinning many a truthful yarn about the old days and it is hoped he may at some time soon write something for publication about early-day Cameron.

The rhythm of modern life is unknown in the picturesque capital city of Ancud on Chiloe island, largest of the bewildering wealth of small islands along the Chilean coast. The island is connected with the Chilean mainland by steamship to Puerto Montt, which furnishes mail service.

RODEO CONTRACT MADE WITH GENE AUTRY RANCH

Contract was made Tuesday with Howard Brown by the Centennial Rodeo Committee of which Mack Akers is chairman, for stock and star performers from Gene Autry Ranch at Dublin.

Mr. Brown will bring to Cameron the celebrated performers and the rodeo stock seen at the Fort Worth Fat Stock Show rodeo. This stock is from the Lightning C ranch at Dublin owned by Gene Autry, movie star. Mr. Brown is superintendent of the ranch.

The Gene Autry stock is seen at Fort Worth, New York and Boston each year. Mr. Akers said that Cameron would have the best rodeo stock and star rodeo performers in America.

Mr. Brown, under contract, will furnish everything necessary to make the program a success except $1600 in prize money to be put up by the local committee, said Mr. Akers.

Gene Autry will not be in the state at the time the Centennial celebration is held here. He feels the screen star would be certain to be here with his pride Lightning C stock if he were in the state.

The Cameron rodeo has been approved by the Cowboy Rodeo Association and the point system will operate for national championships. This means that performers in the Cameron rodeo will be credited with earning on points looking to national prizes.

The Centennial Rodeo will have three performances at night on May 23 and 24 and in the afternoon of May 25.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Strickler of Clarkson visited in Cameron on Wednesday.

Wives of Veterans Asked to Help Survey The Price Situation

An invitation to wives of returned servicemen to volunteer for service with the Milam County Price Control Board in making surveys of stores and checking goods to see if prices are within ceilings was issued today by Sam Perry, Chairman of the Milam County Price Control Board.

"If we have a major inflation followed by a crash, as we did after World War I, nobody would be hit harder than the veteran," Mr. Perry said.

"Veteran's wives, recognizing this, in many parts of the nation are volunteering to aid in making our store surveys. Also, many veterans are volunteering for price panel work, chiefly to protect their fellow-veterans in the communities from overcharges."

Scholastics Urged To See Census Taker If Names Overlooked

In completing the school census, possibility that scholastics may be overlooked brought an appeal from County Superintendent Hicks that if any such case occurs the pupil or parents are requested to contact his office, any of the census takers or the superintendent of schools.

It is important that all scholastics are enrolled for upon these rolls depend the amount of school money allowed by the state.

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Albert of Burlington were visitors in Cameron last week.

Miss Mildred Cryer of Austin spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cryer.

Farm's History Recites Misuse

It's Story of Thousands of Similar Experiences in Past Century.

FULTON, MO.—If a farm could talk it often could tell many a story of good times and bad, happy owners and unhappy ones, prosperity, desolation, abandonment and ruin.

This is the story of a 200-acre farm near Fulton which now is back in the hands of the same government which turned it over to pioneer homesteaders in 1832. It is a story which multiplied by thousands of similar cases of prosperity to ruin in a century becomes nationally significant.

The Boswells of this farm are local government conservationists who have traced out its history.

A little over a century ago the farm, known as the Adcock place, was covered with timber. It passed from government to private ownership in five tracts from 1832 to 1853, and was homesteaded by real Midwestern pioneers. The tracts finally came together in 1891 under ownership of W. D. Adcock, says the Associated Press.

Prices Advance.

Adcock sold the farm in 1903 for $5,200 and it was sold again in 1904 to John C. Hansen for $6,000. At that time only 50 acres had been cleared, but Hansen cleared another 100 acres before 1909, when he sold it for $10,000 to John C. Douglas.

Douglas, just married and striking out on his own, built a solid four-room house and farmed the place well, specializing in livestock. The Douglases had the farm paid for in 1919 when after two children had been born on the farm, they sold it for $12,000, and moved to town. The new owner resold it the following year for $15,000 to Grove Selby.

Land prices then were at a peak just following the First World war.

They were too high and soon began causing trouble. The farm was put in the hands of tenants, who cropped it very heavily and soon the land showed the abuse. Yields dropped. Soil began washing away. The owner was killed in an accident and in 1931 the farm found itself on the courthouse steps in the hands of the sheriff, who sold it for $2,000.

This fate is well known to too many Midwestern farmers who paid too much for land around 1920.

Crowning Blow.

Sometime between 1932 and 1939 J. C. Smith bought the farm for $599, plus some court costs and taxes. In 1937 the place was abandoned, the land grew up in weeds and the gullies washed deeper and deeper as life-giving top-soil disappeared. The buildings were vacant and improvements fell into an abandoned and dilapidated state, another picture well known to the Midwest.

In 1939 came the crowning blow—the farm was listed as sub-marginal, meaning it was impossible without rehabilitation to sustain farming operations profitably there. The government bought it for $1,260, less than 10 per cent of what it was sold for 19 years earlier.

The land was wrapped up into the Cedar Creek forest and pasture project of the Soil Conservation service, which has been struggling for six years to reclaim the soil. Some progress has been made and about $20 per acre already has been spent in the reclaiming operations, but the development is painfuly slow. Fertilizer, lime and soil building crops and grass have been used extensively, and the land now is being rented at $2 an acre annually for grazing purposes.

Farmers who know the land are watching the operations with some skepticism.

Report New Chemical Weed Killer May Appear Soon

WASHINGTON.—A chemical that will kill weeds—including ragweed which annoys hay fever victims—may go into commercial production, a department of agriculture scientist reported.

Technically identified as 2.4-dicholophenoxyacetic acid, the chemical also hastens the ripening of fruits after picking, Dr. John W. Mitchell, research worker, said.

The chemical has been under test three years. It can be used either in a powder or spray form.

Jap Teachers Ask 500% Increase in Allowances

TOKYO.—The national council of the Japanese Teachers' union handed the education ministry a seven-point demand for improved conditions, including a 500 per cent increase in food and residence allowances, the newspaper Yomiuri Hochi reported. The council claims a majority of the nation's teachers as members.

Hearse Solves Housing Shortage for Indianan

WEST PALM BEACH, FLA.—E. T. Sarman arrived here from Bainbridge, Ind., in a hearse, but made it clear he is bound on a vacation—not for a graveyard.

He said he bought the vehicle to cope with the housing shortage during his trip.

"I put a bed in it in case I couldn't find a hotel room, and I had to use it, too," Sarman said. "It was very comfortable."

CAMERON RELAYS TO BE HELD SATURDAY

Late entries in the Cameron Relays were expected to place the mark above 300 opening at Yoemen Stadium here Saturday, March 30.

Already 14 schools had certified their entries and 200 athletes are certain to be on hand for the renewal of the relays, suspended during the war.

Coach Leo Jakcson, as guest mentor for the Central Texas Track Classic, said Thursday that "Mule" Frazier, well known sports figure at Waco, will do the starting. The meet gets under way at 10 a.m. and the high hurdles will be the first event.

Bryan High School, winner of the recent quadrangle meet in Waco, has entered 20 of her athletes. The Bryan men are entered in every event and are among the favored to win.

Coach Jackson said that due to the lateness of spring football training, his athletes will depend on making points in the short races.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Sam and Lud, War and Peace

Like everybody else, folks in our town talk about the best way of preserving peace. Some believe one thing, some another. But when it comes to Lud Denny and Sam Hackney—each has a self-invented Plan.

Talking things over at Bill Webster's, Sam and Lud got so worked up arguing against each other's Plan, they almost came to blows. Now each one thinks the other is a public enemy—for not agreeing with his Plan!

Seems to me there's the problem in a nutshell! No plan in the world can lead to peace—'til folks respect each other's views; allow for differences of taste; and learn to live with opposite opinions.

From where I sit, real peace begins with people—neighbor living tolerantly beside neighbor—regardless of who votes how, or who drinks beer or cider, or who wears city clothes or overalls. Peace starts with Tolerance!

Many Hear Discussions Of GI Bill of Rights At Meeting of Negroes

One hundred seventy-five persons from Cameron and other communities of Milam county filled the District Court room Sunday, March 31 to hear Lee Perkins and Tom L. Holley of Prairie View speak on points of vital interest to civilians and veterans alike.

Perkins, Veterans Counsellor, spoke on the G.I. Bill of Rights and its provisions and advantages to veterans. Stressed in Perkins speech was the necessity of the veteran deciding himself whether he should select a literary course or a trade course or whether he should go to school at present. Special attention was called to section 1505 which dealt with tuition and other educational expense. All veterans interested were urged to file Form 1950 for entrance into educational institutions.

Tom L. Holley, who is Supervisor of Trades and Industries among Texas Negroes and who is the father of the former Miss Irene Holley exhomemaking teacher in the O. J. Thomas school, stressed in his discussion the necessity of preparation for work as the solution to the economic problems of the Negro. He showed more than a dozen well paying vocations which are offered at both Houston and Prairie View to vets.

Rev. E. M. Roberts, who inspired the organization of the Welfare Council, which sponsored the program, stated in giving the news, that the program was most informational as well as inspirational.

John Archie McIver of the Southwestern Theological Seminary, beloved friend of Minerva and all Milam county, will deliver the morning and evening addresses.

Rev. McIver is a man who all love and respect. He is a man of God in and out of the pulpit. In 1944 he won over 60 men to Christ while he was District Missionary ,(District 15) for the Baptist. As he would drive down the highway he would give men a lift in his car and preach unto them Jesus. He is a Man of God and a friend to all men. Come and hear him.

We start our campaign to raise $5000 for our new auditorium. Members will make offering and pledges to be used in the building. Any donation to this worthy cause will be blessed of the Lord.

We are planning to have a baptismal service in the afternoon. Don't neglect to avail yourself of this glorious privilege of seeing the death, burial and resurrection of our Savior, in baptismal. Sunday School 10:00 a.m. Training Union, 6:30 p.m.

CAMERON

Captain Cameron with the battles of the Revolution. When General Sam Houston who was then President of the Republic of Texas authorized in 1842 the recruiting of 56 companies of volunteers to resist the Mexicans who had invaded Texas as a reprisal over the Santa Fe expedition in 1841 ordered by President Lamar, Captain Cameron is certain to have joined up for he was one among the number who refused to obey the orders of General Alexander Somervell to return to Gonzales to be demobilized after the Mexicans had retreated into their own country.

Col. W. S. Fisher, leader of the Mier expedition, led his men in an invasion of Mexico. At Meir they were engaging the Mexicans 2000 strong and had they known it would not have surrendered for they had won the battle but did not know it at the time. They were marched away to Mexico City as prisoners. One historic account says that the forces split at San Antonio and that Captain Cameron led a company of men into Mexico. We do not vouch for this version at the present time. Captain Cameron was shot by the Mexicans at Huehuetoch on April 25, 1843. He was born in Scotland in 1811. A soldier of the Republic of Texas, he died a heroic death. Facing the firing squad Captain Cameron said. "I will show you how bravely an American can die." Baring his breast he received 15 shots in the volley that wiped out the band of heroes. There is inscribed on the monument erected at La Grange, Texas, to the Mier men this tribute: "Lest we forget; this tribute to Captain Ewen Cameron is placed here. Born in the Highlands of Scotland in 1811, he was killed in Mexico April 25, 1843. A soldier of the Republic of Texas. He died with his face to the foe. Cowards die many times before their death; the valiant never taste death but once."

Thus we celebrate not only a great name in our history but a wealth of traditions. Cameron was a small village before Sam Houston liberted Texas in the battle of San Jacinto. From a cluster of log huts on the banks of Little River when the flag of Mexico waved in certain, though disputed authority over Texas, this city has kept pace with development and today is the commercial center of one of the largest trade territories in all Texas.

During the early stages of the war in Europe and before the United States was forced in because of the attack on Pearl Harbor, the British government in exchange for bases in the Atlantic, took 50 destroyers from the American navy. One of these Destoyers was named "The Cameron" after the city of Cameron and in honor of the Cameron Clan in the Highlands of Scotland. At that time correspondence was exchanged between the family in Scotland and the Mayor of Cameron.

history of East Texas, edited by the late Dabney White for the Lewis Historical Publishing Company of New York, the first newspaper in Milam county was The Milam Sentinel, established in 1860. Possibility of error is admitted. The present publishers have in their offices a subscription and advertising statement made out to the late Dr. E A. Martin in 1861 for the Cameron Sentinel. According to the history book the Cameron Sentinel was not established until 1869.

These dates are too much in conflict to escape inquiry. Since there are no records available to produce proof, it must be assumed that the Milam Sentinel was changed to the Cameron Sentinel a year after its first publication. There seems to be no historical indication that a newspaper was published here prior to 1860 and likewise there is no proof that the city did not have a publication prior to that time. w

The town site was surveyed out in 1846 and if the dates are correct in the main, it was 16 years later that The Milam Sentinel was established. It was published by E. H. Regan. The Cameron Sentinel in 1861 was published by W. K. Homan.

According to Mr. White's history the newspaper was first published under the name Cameron Herald in 1886. Also at that time Cameron had another paper, the Milam County Democrat.

Cameron had a daily newspaper 40 years ago. At one time there were a number of publications here, Cameron being a printing and publishing town.

The Cameron Enterprise was established in 1904. The Cameron Daily Herald, better known as The Midget, was established in June 1939.

All early day publications were struggling sheets on the frontier. The Milam Telegram was published for one year in Cameron by W. K Homan from 1870 to 1871.

In 1873 the Rockdale Messenger was established at Rockdale by McGregor & Muir. Later the name was changed to The Reporter and at that time was published by the late Dick Kennon.

The B. I. Arnold Insurance Agency was established in 1878 by the late B. I. Arnold who had come to Texas and to Cameron a representative of the Federal Government to report on conditions relative to the lot of the negroes. He liked Texas and Texas liked him and he lost little time getting into business. He established the fire insurance agency in 1878 and also became a land owner. The town of Ben Arnold is named for him.

The First National Bank was established in 1889. It is the oldest financial institution in the county and according to records at hand, the fourth oldest business in the city.

The publishers would like to have any historical information, based upon known facts, that any contributor would care to communicate. The old files of The Herald were burned about 35 years ago, for what reason, no one has ever discovered. With their destruction went the printed record of much of the early history of the town. The oldest file now at The Herald dates back no further than 1892.
